Australian business number (ABN) cancellation notice

To whom it may concern,

We've cancelled your ABN 37 468 910 671 because information reviewed by us indicates that you're no longer entitled to have it.

To be entitled to an ABN, you must be carrying on a business.

The information we reviewed may have included:

- whether business income or expenses were reported in your previous year's tax return
- third party data including merchant data that indicates if you're in business
- your lodgments with the ATO
- advice in your most recent tax return that you've ceased business
- advice that your most recent year's tax return was your final return.

The cancellation is effective from 30 July 2024. This cancellation will also remove any authorised relationships between your ABN and digital identities, such as myGovID.

What you need to know

You can find more information about why we cancelled your ABN at www.abr.gov.au/ABNcancellation

You can find out about your review rights at www.abr.gov.au/objections

What you need to do

To avoid penalties and interest please ensure you finalise any outstanding tax obligations.

If you start a business in the future, you can reapply online at www.abr.gov.au

If you don't agree with our decision

If you don't agree with our decision to cancel your ABN, you can reapply online at www.abr.gov.au

You should only reapply if you're carrying on a business or starting a new one. You don't need an ABN if you're not currently running a business.

Your application may be reviewed and you may be required to provide evidence of your business. If you're reissued an ABN, you must meet your tax obligations. If you don't, your ABN may be cancelled again.
